

In this anthology, Ella Stradling explores the hidden depths of the human psyche, touching on emotions that we all feel but keep hidden Beneath the Sea of life. Arranged in sections that each concentrate on one type of feeling, the book takes us on an emotional journey, from hoping and trying, to loving, grieving and healing, and finally coming out of the experience singing. In following this journey, the reader will explore what it is to be human, remembering moments in their own lives as expressed in these poems, to come to the realisation that Beneath the Sea, we are all the same.
