

About this play: In a humorous blend of biblical and modern culture, an aspiring journalist named Luke is trying to break into the periodical, National Scroll, with a fantasy Christmas article, but editor Liebowitz rejects it, demanding facts and authenticity. In a second attempt, Luke conducts four interviews to learn exactly what happened that first Christmas night. What he discovers changes everything. Candle Star Christmas Productions is a series of simple-to-produce Christmas plays designed for small churches or schools. Each one immerses viewers in a powerful story that clearly presents the gospel message, leaving no question about the true meaning of Christmas. Combined with suggested music (not included), estimated lengths range between forty-five minutes to one hour. Full reproduction rights are granted to purchaser within purchaser's organization.
